HAVANA, CUBA

BELIZE CITY, BELIZE

HAVANA'S AUTHENTIC OLD TOWN.

Long isolated from visitors, Cuba's culture is among the most unspoiled in the world. With an overnight onboard stay in Cuba's capital, you will have ample time to explore Havana's Casco Viejo, or Old Town. More than 3,000 buildings populate this UNESCO World Heritage Site. Grand neoclassical, baroque and colonial architecture graces the atmospheric Plaza de Armas, Plaza de la Cathedral and other squares. Stroll the Avenida de los Presidentes and the Malecón waterfront.

COZUMEL'S MAYAN AND TOLTEC PAST.

Located off Mexico's Yucatán Peninsula, the island of Cozumel boasts a rich Mayan and colonial past. Explore the colorful streets of San Miguel or visit Mayan and Toltec ruins of San Gervasio to gain insight into the island's ancient beliefs and customs. View the scenic lighthouse at Punta Celarain. Or join snorkelers at Cozumel Reefs National Marine Park, the second-largest coral reef system in the world.

BELIZE'S RUINS AND REEFS.

Inhabited by Mayans for more than 5,000 years, Belize is home to more than a dozen ruins. Journey to the mysterious ancient site of Altun Ha, one of Central America's most accessible temples. Enjoy a cruise along the tropical Belize River. Or take a small boat just off Ambergris Cay to the famous Great Blue Hole, a breathtaking chute in the middle of a shallow lagoon descending straight into the reef to a depth of 412 feet.

THE EDGE OF FLORIDA'S KEYS.

Key West is known for its carefree culture. But it is also home to former president Harry S. Truman's Winter White House, preserved today as a historic monument. Duval Street, too, boasts historic architecture, from old Bahamian-style homes to Spanish-influenced Victorian mansions. Key West's other famous resident, Ernest Hemingway, is said to have written several novels from his house, which today is famously home to dozens of cats.
